Dear Norma and Simon,

In going through a box of medals, I found some Russian ones which I am enclosing. One is, apparently, a silver Coronation medal of 1896; another is a silver soldier's medal of World War I, and the third is a World War I helmet badge. Please do not let Simon wear them on his next trip to Russia.

Evelyn and I are off to England the beginning of July, where our camping car is resting, and we will tour some of the industrial portions of England.

We sincerely hope that you are now healthy again and full of devilment.

Cordially,
